

SECTION A: GRAMMAR (10 marks)

1. Use the verb in brackets correctly to complete each statement. .

(ring, cut, fast, drink, campel)

- i) The pilot was "to land el in Douala because of the bad weather.
 - ii) The technician inadvertently his finger with the knife.
 - Hi) He ."vas stupidlyby the Ume the party actually started.
 - iv) She the only chance she had to obtain tlw.iob.
 - v) The old woman had the bell until she fainted,
2. Complete the (following sentences with the connect structures or items.
- a) Peter and Mary could not get married again,.....?
 - b) She isn't the lady you have bell looking for,?
 - c) \We expect the plane 10 touch the ground.....?
 - d) She could not pass her exams she never studied.
 - e) Which will you..... Coffee or tea?

SECTION II: VOCABULARY (10 marks)

1. Fill in the blanks in the sentences with words in their correct forms.

(clatter, shriek, jostle, temper, buslle)

- a) The baby had a rather bad.....and would kick and bite when he is angry.
- b) The people at the bus-stop pushed, shoved andone another climb into the crowded bus.
- c) The iron fell down the staircse with a..... that could be heard throughout the house.
- d) Motherabout the house and trying to get everything ready for the big party in the evening.
- e) The children ran their mothers as 1 he band of the masquerade carne closer.

Complete the following with the most appropriate word.

	SYNONYMS	ANTONYMS
I	Abandon	Beautiful
Ii	Abundant	Distant
iii	Amend	Rise
iv	Candid	Sweet
V	Fager	Busy
vi	Bright	Start
vii	Brave	Friend
viii	Educate	Bright
ix	Emotion	Win
X	excess	bless

SECTION C: TRANSLATION

Translate the following into English

Nous allons au village trois fois par ans

Parfois il envoie des cadeaux

Si nous dépêchons, nous serons à l'heure

Est-ce que vous savez ce qu'est ce bâtiment ?

Montre-moi le terrain du football

2. Translate the following into French

a) You mustn't turn left.....

b) It seems as if our plan be perfect

Is your house more comfortable than mine'?

d) Yes, that sounds as if it will be nice.

e) The more I listen, the less I understand.....

SECTION D: READING COMPREHENSION (10 MARKS)

Head the passage below and answer the questions that follow it.

There was once a very rich man who wanted to build a house. He employed four people who could really do the job. There was an architect, a carpenter, a builder, and an electrician. The architect was asked to design a house that showed how rich the owner was. The builder had to mould the bricks and build the house. The carpenter's job was to roof the house and put at the doors, windows and wall decorations. The electrician had to take care of all the electrical installation; making sure that there can never be any short circuit in the house. They all did their job very well and the rich man was very happy. He was so happy that he started crying. The four technicians were very surprised and asked him what the matter was. But he only cried the more and told to go away and come tomorrow. The four men went away wondering what has happened to their master. They even wondered what could make a rich, powerful, and influential man like their master to cry like a little orphan. However, they came back the following day. Then the rich saw them again, he started crying and this time even louder. They asked him again what was wrong and he told them to go and come again tomorrow, when they came again, the man saw them and cried rolling on the ground saying "tomorrow, tomorrow, and tomorrow." And "tomorrow" never ended poor technicians! What a job!

QUESTIONS

What did the rich man want to do?

List the people he employed.....

a) Did the people he employed do their job very well?

b) how did the rich man feel when the house was built?

4. What did the rich man do every time he saw the technicians?

5. Did the rich man ever pay the workers?

6. What lesson do you learn from this passage?

7. Suggest a possible title for the text.